Wedding in Fauquier. | Correspondence of the Alexandria GAZETTE. MARSHALL, Jan. 8 b .- Last evening the Methodist church here was the scene of an occasion of more than local interest, it being the marriage of Mi s Della D Cochrille, one of the most charming and accomplished young ladies of this place, to Mr. Geo J. Russell, a well known business man. The interior decorations of the church were very elaborate, the altar railing being literally covered with evergreens and box. In the centre of the church was an exquisite arch of the same material. This was studded with lovely roser, while a number of lighted wax candles presented a handsome appear ance. In the rear was a collection of potted flowers whose fragrance filled the room this was the work of Mrs Mollie Fewell, Miss Namie Collins, Miss Lou Klipsteir, Miss Steyre and Mrs. M. E. Davis Prompt by at 6.15 p. m., the wedding party entered the church in the following order: First came the ushers, Messre, H L Foley and W E Cologne, and other attendants, Mr. W. B. Fewell with Miss Hattie Fewell and Mr. J. C. Colegne, jr, with Miss Florence Herrell (alovely blande and a cousin of the bride). Last came the bride and groom, the bride carrying in ner left hand a bauquet of hyaciaths, elephanotis and loses. The bride and groom were met at the arch by Rev.

C. A. Joyce, who in a beautiful ceremony united them as husband and wife.
Mendel-sohn's wedding march was skillfully rendered on the organ by Miss Maude Herrell, a cousin of the bride. The party were then driven to the home of Mr. Elwin Fewell where a reception was held, a large and select company being present. A -plendid supper, perfect in all its appointments, was spread by the host and his estimable lady, and as heartily enjoyed. The ovely and popular bride was attired in cream sibatroes, trimmed with brocade silk, aces and ribbon to match. The hardsome groom was dressed in the conventional nlack The bride was the recipient of a number of handsome gifts, consisting of glass and silver ware, handsome lamps, china, bric-a brac, &c., from her large circle of friends. Later in the evening the Mar-shal Band tendered the happy pair a sere-nade and the music proved a rich treat. Mr. and Mrs. Russell left this morning on the 7.54 train on a bridal tour to Washingon and Baltimore. May they both have pleasant sailing down the stream of wedded niss without a ripple to mar its surface, and may both their lives be happily blended together. HIAWATHA,

A RIDE ON A RAIL.-Hookston, Beaver county, Pa., was excited Tuesday night by the appearance of a gang of regulators. They called at the residence of Johnson Calhoun, one of the oldest residents, and demanded he make amends for his alleged orutality to his wife. They called upon him to come out on the street He at first refused, but was finally induced to make his appearance. The regulators then placing him on a rail, started on a march through the streets of the town. The constable and others attempted to interfere, but the men were determined. A constant fusilade of shooting from revolvers and shot guns was kept up while they marched through the streets and around the square where Cal-houn reades. Cathoun is a very large man. At first he fought desperately, then he pleaded lustily for mercy, appealed to his neigh-bors to protect him, and finally offered the regulators any money they would name to release him. They refused his money, and bounced him on a rail around the town for nearly baif an hour, and only quit when their strength gave out. By this time he was badly burt and terribly frightened. Upon his promise to treat his wife better in the future he was tossed from the rail and allowed to go into the house. Calhoun is over sixty years of age, and his wife is young and quite handsome, and it is said he has been insanely and unjustly jealous of her.
